The editor of the Journal is much exercised about the apostasy of four-ninths of his party, or four-ninths of their representatives. His indignant demonstrations on this point are highly amusing, considering that they come from an old political stager. He is surprised, disappointed and wrathful, as if the conduct of these four-ninths was unexpected, not dreamed of. We can't sympathize with our neighbor at ali. We told him how to interpret the signs of the times; and he knows that we have always told him the truth. Yet he got indignant at us, and was very impertiuent. We said that he and others were sold; but what was the use? Their seifconcelt was too great. They would not look at facts or symptoms, and finger-boards all pointing one way. For the sake of votes and for the sake of harmony, these four-ninths pledged themselves to a platform, it is said. They didn't mean anything by that platform, and in that they were like many others. Whilst an indifferent assent was given to the platform, there was an opposite current with which many were drifting and would not stop. We shall not denounce these men as apostates, as acting in bad faith at all. They made their own speeches, and were understood by men who heard them.

We heard a speech of Mr. Clay. There was no disguise abont it. It was an out and out Administration speech. If anybody mistook him, it was not his fauit. We saw several reports of Mr. Randali's speeches, and we don't think he could be misunaerstood, unless a man were determined to misunderstand him. We presume the others are in the same

These men are entirely wrong, in our judgment, but pot treacherous. If their constituents are deceived, whose fault is it? At a free election under the Constitution and laws of Kentneky not one of these four-ninths would occupy his present seat in Congress, unless the people had been deceived by the editor of the Journal, who insisted that these men stood on the platform. It is hardly fair to quote what they said, unless all they said is

We are against the position of these men, and would not support them. We declined to support an organization that made them its leaders. They were not on our platform-that was plain-and we could not afford any responsibility for them, however humble. We are too good a friend to the Union of these States to connive at their policy. They are for the Union, no doubt; but the Union may well pray to be saved from such friends.

We, however, think it unjust to accuse them of apostasy or treachery. We did not were misunderstood it was not their fault. They are for the present Administration during the cauvass. They would find a little fault to be sure; refer to the piatform perhaps, and tell us they would have had come things otherwise; but feel it a duty to give an unqualified support to the Adminis-

To be sure, when one reads that platform and sees the grave charges it brings against the party in power, it does look strange to see a man acting with that party, who professed to adopt such a platform as his political falth. There is a monstrons wrong somewhere, it will be thought. So we think, and we were not a party to the affair. We saw that with many this platform was a humbug, and that it would be used to humbig the public. Honest men who believed it affiliated in a party with others who didn't half believe it, or didn't believe it at ali.

The result 's, that men who came into powe with that platform are antegonistic in sentiment, and no personal dishonesty or treachery chargeable either.

The cr.me is in putting out a platform that a party doesn't believe; that is represented as the lest that could be done. Such a course leads to what has occurred. Somebody is cheated or disappointed. In the present lnstance, these four-ninths voted as the Republicans expected. The Union men of Kentneky had evidence enough they would so vote. It is some rellef that there were only four who so voted. We didn't know but one or two more would do likewise.

It is claimed that the per cent. on the national debt is decreasing, and we are informed authoritatively that snms have been borrowed as low as four per cent. It is easy out of this to see what the real interest is. We take for example the five-twenty bonds. The interest upon these is payable in gold. The purchaser investa a certain sum, say one thousand doilars, in these bonds, redcemable in five or twenty years. In the meauwhlie he gets the interest in coin. It is to be noticed that he is not required to loan the thousand dollars in the precions metals. He has only to pay in the legal tender notes, alias greenbacks. He pays one thousand dollars in this currency, really worth at the present rates only $666%. For this he gets forty dollars interest. This makes not four per cent., ss the Sccretary states, but exactly six per cent. As these fa vorable terms are rare, we can, in all moderation, put it at the average estimate of six per cent, or, in reality, nearly ten.

We are not disposed to censure very sovereiv, but rather to admire the ingenuity of Mr. Chase, for the adrolt manner in which he keeps up appearances. Any purchaser of these bonds sees that he is gaining nearly ten per cent. on his investment. The people, on the other hand, who are eventually to pay, are after awhile to load a gun. not supposed to look so carefully into the matter, but are disposed to be gratified at the moderate interest set forth by the Secretary. Thus it succeeds all round. The speculator is pleased to know that he is actually making a good thing of it, and thinks well of the fivetwenties, while the people are satisfied for a precisely contrary reason.

The rebels claim to have captured Brownlow's type and press. If they had taken him at the same time and made him write just such articles South as he makes speeches North, they would have been strengtheued equal to ten thousand men.

Fifty thousand dollars Confederate money was found floating on Detroit river. That is one way to invest floating capital.

THE OUTSKIRTS OF FAIR CREATION .- There are 480 looms at work in Massachusetts making Balmorai.

Mr. Chase, in his recent report, ascribes the present rise in the prices in part to other causes besides the depreciation in the enrrency, and says that had it been possible to borrow coin fast enough for the disbursements, almost if not altogether the same eftects would have been produced. No one will deny that such an impossible event would have had an effect, but by no means what the Secretary estimates it at. The dis covery of the gold in California and Australia lowered the value of that metal. An excess of the precions metals by borrowing, as Mr. Chase suggests, would have had the same effect here, and In consequence it would have left the coun try until the quantity remaining raised its value to that in other civilized countries. Just here is where Mr. Chase errs. He forgets that the new currency is not a recognized value throughout the world to have a market anywhere. It is so only with us. The tendency, therefore, as in the previous case, is to drive the precious metais from the country, and se

our currency has no fixed basis but finctuates with the chances of war, the tendency, from the very uncertainly of the value, is to keer

up this ontflow. Mr. Chase, we know, has at various times been authorized to issue legal tender notes to the amount of four hundred millions, or near it. This bears no interest. It is money borrowed without interest. Are we to under stand that If this amount in gold could have been borrowed on the same terms gold would now be quoted in the markets at 50% cents premium, and prices been according, or any hing near it? The very statement of the roposition earries its absurdity on its face. Mr. Chase's idea seems to be that a promise to pay in the future, when there are many contingencies against it, is equivalent to the money down. There are very few per sons who will agree with him upon this point. The real effect, if borrowing gold had been possible, would be upon the credit of the Government. It would have fluctuated, but with an adequate supply of that metal, not excessive, the effect would have been to keep prices in a normal condition. A scarcity, there being no other enrrency in competition, would have had just the reverse effect, and would have kept prices down. It seems to us perfectly clear that if we must give a dollar and a half of our money to get a dollar of any other nation's, that would of itself raise our prices for every thing in which we come in competition with other nations, and that would, be ascribable entirely to our currency.

Mr. Chase puts down another fact in acsigning causes for the present inflation of prices, which certainly merits the attention of the country. He says: "Such disbursement; made in coin would have enriched fortunate contractors, stimulated lavish expenditures, and so inflated prices in the same way, and nearly to the same extent as when made in notes." This is assigned in a grave State paper as one of the canses of the high prices at present. We are told that the enriching of fortunate contractors in the present time of peril and distress is one of the prime causes for the prices which grind down the poor man. To have an effect of such magnitude as this there must have been more than one or a hundred or a thousand "fortunate contractors." It telis us in smoother phrase that one of the causes of inflation is the frauds by which thousands of speculators have been enriched at the expense of the country and the citizens. This certainly presents a spectacle worthy of the attention of au economical people. We learn from this high authority that the wholesale merchant or the purchaser of a few pounds of sngar or sait, on entering the market, has to compete with these contractors with iong purses, filled ont of the nation's treasury, who, in the grat ification of inst or appetite, are able systemat ically to keep up prices. It is no flattering picture Mr. Chase presents to us, either of the care taken by the Government in letting out contracts, or the integrity of those whom they employ, since they produce such consenences as this.

Mr. Chase offers some other reasons for the same effect, which are entliied to their weight, out by no means to the extent which he gives them. No one can read this part of the report without being impressed with the idea that, in the anxiety of the Secretary to defend his financial scheme, he has been driven to seek for remote causes for that which is capable of a very simple explanation.

Among the echemes which have been especially favorites with the Secretary of the Treasury is the establishment of National Banks throughout the Union; and he dwells with considerable satisfaction upon the fact that they are aircady established in seventeen States, and that one is in contemplation in New Orleans. As this subject occupies much of the report, we turned with curiosity to see the result of so much labor, over which the author of the plan prided himself:

The Comtroller of the Currency reports the rganization under the national banking act, for to the 29th of November, of one han dred and thirry-four associations—all of which, upon the suggestion of the Secretary, have adopted the name of National Banks, distingnished by order of organization and by lo-cality. These banking associations have been formed in seventeen States and in the District of Coinmbia, and have an aggregate capital of $16,081,200.

There is the aggregate capital invested in a plan by which the Secretary of the Treasury proposed to establish on a firm and uniform basis the entire credit of the country. We turned then to our present indebtedness to see what weight was to rest upon a foundation upon whose strength the author prided himself. On the 30th of June last, by the same report, we find it to be $1,098,793,181 37. That is, six months ago the national debt was eleven times as great as the whole capital invested in Mr. Chase's favorite scheme. The mountain has indeed produced a mouse.

Abstract of Gen. Halleck's Report. WASHINGTON, Dec. 12, 1863. The report of the General-in-Chief is a very ergthy document, comprising mainly a grand ammany of the military operations since his isat annual report. Referring to the Department of the Potomac, Gen. Hallock says Burnside's proposed change of base was not approved by him. Burnside, therefore, consented to cross his army by the fords of two Upper appahannock, and then move down to selz the bights of Fredericksburg, while a small force was to be sent north of the river, to enshie lloupt to reopen the railroad. This plan was assented to, but not approved. Burnside, instead of crossing the Rappensuncek by the fords, as he was expected to do, marched his whole approved the rest back of the size of the whoie army down the north bank of that river Lec's army, is the meantime, moved down to the south bank of the river, which was at this time fordable a few miles above the town; and General Sumner asked permission to cross and occupy the highes, but it was refused, and no attempt was made to effect a passag till December 11th, by which time Lee's army had been concentrated. It is alleged that the defeat, which we suffered soon after, resulted from the neglect to forward the pontoon train from Washington; whereas the pontoons at the time were at Berlin, in the Army of the Potomac. The delay was therefore unavoida-ole, and, on investigation of matters, Burn-side pronounced it so.

Speaking of sffairs in Grant's department, the General in Chief says: "It has been alleged that Grant positively disobeyed the lnstructions of his superlors. It is hardly necseary to remark that Grant never disobeved an order; morcover, he has never complained that the Government did not furtish him all the means and assistance in its power to fa-cilitate the execution of any plans he saw fit Dadopt."
The General suggests that, as the rebe

army lives upon the country through which it passes, the Federal army do the same, as it facilitates rapidity of movement. Our commanders in the rebei States hadly ever find supplies, and in the border States it is difficult to distinguish between real friends and encomies. In regard to sutiers, he says the entire abo-iltion of the system would rid the army of the incumbrance of snilers' wagons on the march and the nuisance of sutiers' stails and booths in camp, and it would improve the discipline and efficiency of our troops in many ways, and particularly by removing from the camps the prolific evils of drunkcuness. It is not difficult for swiers to act the part of spies, informers, smuggiers, and contraband traders. The General thinks the court-martial a too umbrous proceeding for the battlefield, and nggests some more speedy punishment. He suggests the Inspector General's depart-be merged into the Adjutant's General's epartment. He recommends several reformations in relation to the organization of regiments, brigades and corps.

He claims that the cartel for the exchan of prisoners has been violated in relation to room entered by means of burglar's implements. Suddenly Mr. Rosenthal was awakened by a usen standing with a knife over him, and threatening to kill him, if he made the slightest noise or the slightest demonstration. He threatened Mrs. Rosenthal, who is a delegate way. The result was that the in a delicate way. The result was that the burglar, who was masked, took from the pillows under Mr. and Mrs. Rosenthal's heads, wenty-five hundred dollars in greenback en dollars in one gold coin and one dollar in another. The burgler, coully stending over Mr. and Mrs. Resenthal with his knife drawn, Mr. and Mrs. Research with his kine orawn, counted the money, pronounced it right, and then, saying he was going to search a bureau in another room, backed out, knife in hand, and probably loaded down with pistols, keeping his eyes all the time upon Mr. and Mrs. Rosenthal, lying in bed. He, the burglar, according to all suppositions of the case, did not stop at the aforesaid bureau, but went out the back way, climbed the fence and puwith his $2,511. Now the question is, after this, one of the most daring burgiaries over committed, what are citizens to do to protect themselves? They are not safe on the street, daylight or dark, and it is by what we anthentically relate above, demonstrated that they are not safe in their own domicils—their own castles, accordng to the old English law. What are we to do? Arm ourselves, and go round murder-ing, or rely still further upon the constituted protectors of our lives and property?

The message of Jeff. Davis to the rebel Con ress is published in the Richmond papers. t is anything but a cheerful document. His summary of the military situation is especially mournful. We give some extrac!s: Grave reverses befet our arms soon after your departure from Richmond. Early in our strongholds at Vicksburg and Port July our strongholds at vietsourg and rore, that on, together with their entire garrisors, capitulated to the combined land and raval forces of the enemy. The important interior position of Jackson next fell linto their temporary possession. Our unsuccessful assault on the post at Heiena was followed at a later period by the invasion of Arkansas; and the retreat of our army from Little Rock gare to period by the invasion of Arabasa; and the retreat of our army from Little Rock gave to the enemy the control of the important valley in which it is situated.

The able commander who

The able commander who conducted the campaign in Virginia determined to meet the threatened advance on Richmond—for which the enemy had made long and costly preparations—by forcing their armies to cross the Potomac and fight in defense of their own Cap tal and homes. Transferring the battle-field to their own soli, he succeeded in compelling their rapid retreat from Virginia, and in the hard-fought battle of Gettysburg in flicted such severity of punishment as disabled them from early reneval shment as disabled them from early renewal of the campaign as originally prejected. Unfortunately the communications on which on General relied for receiving his supplies of munitions were interrupted by extraordinary doods, which so swelled the Potomac as to render impassable the fords by which his advance had been made, and no was thus forced to a withdrawal, which was conducted with deliberation, after seening large trains of cap-tured supplies, and with a constant but unse-cepted tender of battle. On more than one

cepted tender of battle. On more than one occasion the enemy has since made demonstration of a purpose to advance, invariably followed by a precipitate retreat to intrenched lines on the approach of our forces. The effective check thus opposed to the advance of the invaders at all points was such as to afford hope of their early expulsion from pertions of the territory previously occupied by them, when the country was painfully surprised by the intelligence that the officer in command of Cumberland Gap had surrendered that important and easily defensible pass without firing a shot, upon the sumposs without firing a shot, upon the sum-mons of a force still believed to have been madequate to its reduction, and when re en-orcements were within supporting distance forcements were within supporting distance tust, by a still further draft, we are admonish-and had been ordered to his aid. The entire ed that no effort must be spared to add largely garrison, including the commander, being still held as prisoners by the enemy, I am unable to suggest any explanation of this dissector, which laid open Eastern Tennessee and Sonthwestern Virginia to hostile operations, and broke the line of communication between the seat of government and middle Tennessee. the seat of government and middle Tennessee. This casy encess of the enemy was followed by an advance of General Rosecrans into leorgia, and our army evacuated Chattanooga and availed itself of the coportunity thus af-orded of winning, on the field of Chickamanga, one of the most brilliant and decisive viccories of the war. This signal defeat of General Rosecrans was followed by his retreat into Chattanooga, where his imported position had the immediate effect of relieving the pressure of the invasion at other points, forcing the concentration, for his relief, of large bodies of troops withdrawn from the armies in the Mississippi withdrawn from the armies in the Mississippi Valley and in Northern Virgluia. On the contrary, there has been still greater divergence in the conduct of European nations from that practical impar-tiality which alone deserves the name of neurality, and their action, in some cases, has asanmed a character positively unfriendly. You have heretofore been informed that, by ommon understanding, the initiative in all ection tonching the contest on this continent had been left by foreign powers to the two great maritime nations of Western Enrope, and that the Governments of these two nalons had agreed to take no measures without previous concert. The result of these arrangements has therefore placed it in the power of either France or England to obstruct at pleasnrethe recognition to which the Confederacy is justly entitled, or even to prolong the contin-ance of hostilities on this side of the Atlantic, the policy of either could be promoted by the postponement of peace. Each, too, thus be-came possessed of great influence in so chaping the general exercise of neutral rights in Europe as to render them subservient to the purpose of aiding one of the beiligerents to the detriment of the other. I referred, at your last cession, to some of the leading points in the course pursued by professed mentrals, which betrayed a partisan leaning to the side of onr enemies; but events have since occurred which induce me to renew the subject in greater detail than was then deem necessary. The message then recapitulates the action of England in reference to the observance of the blockade, and discusses at length the valldity of that action under international law.

In this connection it is said: The intlmation that relations with these tates would be discreditable because they are laveholding, would probably have been omitslaveholding, wonth probably have been charted if the efficial personage who has published it to the world had remembered that these States were, when colonies, made slaveholding by the direct exercise of the power of Great Britain, whose dependencies they were, and whose interests in the slave trade were then appeared to require that her colonies should supposed to require that her colonies should be made siaveholding.

It appears that an insane man, whose discase rendered him very dangerous, had been place di i the county jali at Shelbyville for satety until proper steps should be taken to secone his admission into the State Asylum. The jall is in the Courthonse, and its compariments so small that it was deemed best to give him the entire floor. On Thinsday night two young boys of Rushville, and Shockley and Havens, the latter a grandson of Father Havens, the Mathodist Missionary, were taken up for some trifting misdemeanor and sent to jail, whether as punishment or until a hearing of their case could be had, we did not learn, and were turned into the room with the insane man. The horrers of that night, in that jail, no pen can ever porting. The jail being remote from dwellings, perhaps the citizens were not even awakened by the agonizing cries of those boys in their death-struggle with that powerful man, wronght to freezy by his crazed intellect.

When the jailor went to give his prisoners their breakfast, a ghastly sight met his vision; the boys lay wettering in their gore—their threats were cut from ear to car. [Indianapolis Journal.]

MEXICO. On the movements in Mexico the message

The events of the last year have produced portant charges in the condition of our withern reighbor. The occupation of the capital of Mexico by the French army, and the establishment of a provisional gevern-ment, followed by the radical change in the conctintion of the country, have excited lively interest. Although preferring our own overtment and institutions to those of other outries, we can have no disposition to contest the exercise by them of the same right of test, the exercise by them of the same right of self-government which we assert for ourselves. If the Mexican people prefer a menarchy to a republic, it is our plain duty cheerfully to acquiesce in their decision, and to evince a sincere and friendly interest in their prosperity. If, however, the Mexicans prefer maintaining their former institutions, we have no result to surphend any electrons. we have no reason to apprehend any obsacle to the fear exercise of their choice. The Emperor of the French has solemnly disclaimed any purpose to impose on Mexico a form of government not acceptable to the nation, and the eminent personage to whom the throne has been tendered declines its acceptance nules the offer be sanctioned by the suffrages of the people. In either event, therefore, we may confidently expect the continuance of those peaceful relations which have been maintained on the frontier, and even a large development of the commerce streatly existing to the mu advantage of the two countries.

The rehel army, according to the message, is in better condition than ever before, but men are still greatly needed: In view of the large conscription recently ordered by the enemy, and their subsequent call tor volunteers, to be followed, if ineffecfying the exemption law, restricting details, and placing in the ranks such of the shle-bodied men now employed as wagoners, nurses, cooks, and other employes who are doing service for which the negroes may be found competent.

The message recommends the organization ot an Invalid Corps, and urges that all new recruits be assigned to veteran organizations, Instead of being formed into distinct companies and reglments. As to the ordnance department, it is said:

The reports from the ordnance and mining bureaus are very graiffying, and the extension of our means of supply of arms and munitions of war from on: home resources has been mainly, if not entirely, independent of sup-plies from foreign countries. The establish-menta for the casting of guas and projectiles, nexplicably abandoned positions of great for the manufacture of small arms and of gua-strength, and by a disorderly retreat com-powder, for the supply of niter from artificial pelled the commander to withdraw the forces have been so distributed through the country as to place our resources beyond the reach of partial diseasters.

A systematic and concerted effort has been States of those relatives and friends of the prisoners in our hands who are unable to nu-derstand why the cartel is not executed in their favor, by the groundless assertion that Yesterday (Movday) between the hours of 1 and 2 a. M. the dwelling of Mr. Henry Rosenthal, on North Mississippi street, opposite the State House, was entered by burglars. The back door from the yard was forced and the door opening into Mr. Rosenthal's bedroom entered by means of burglar's implements. Suddenly Mr. Rosenthal's bedroom entered by means of burglar's implements. Suddenly Mr. Rosenthal's bedroom entered by means of burglar's implements. of the prisoners are precisely the same, in quantity and quality, as those served out to our own gallant soldlers in the field, and which have been found sufficient to support them in their arduons campaigna, while it is not pre-tended by the enemy that they treat prisoners by the same generous rule. By an indulgence, perhaps imprecedented, we have even allowed the prisoners in our hands to be supplied by their friends at home with comforts not enjayed by the men who captured them in battie. In contrast to this treatment, the most revolting inhumanity has characterized the conduct of the United States towards prisoners held by them. One prominent fact, which admits no decial or pulliation, must suffice as a test. The officers of our army, natives of southern and semi tropi-cal climates, and apprepared for the cold of a northern win cr, have been conveyed, for im-prisonment, during the rigors of the present season, to the most northern and exposed situstions that could be selected by the enemy. There, beyond the reach of comforts and often even of news from home and family, and exposed to the piercing cold of the northern lakes, they are held by men who cannot be ignorant of, even if they do not design, the probable result. How many of our natorun-ate friends and comrades, who have passed nuscathed through numerous battles, will perish on Johnson's Island, under the cruel trial to which they are subjected, none but the Omniscicat can foretell.

CONCLUSION.

The message concludes as follows: The hope last year entertained of an early termination of the war has not been realized. Could carnage have satisfied the appetite of our enemylor the destruction of human life, our enemy for the destruction of annual me, or griet have appeared their wanton desire to inflict human suffering, there has been bloodship enough on both sides, and two lands have been sufficiently darkened by the weeds have been sufficiently darkened by the weeds of mourning to induce a disposition for peace. If unanimity in a people could dispel detusion, it has been displayed too Enmistskably not to have silenced the pretense that the Southern States were merely disturbed by a factions insurrection, and it must long since have been admitted that they were but exercising their reserved right to modify their cwa Government in such manner as would best secure their own happiness. But these est secure their own happiness. But there considerations have been poweriess to aliay the nuchristian bate of those who, long accusobtain supplies in that country, while denying to the rape privilege to the rebels.

Having begun the war in direct violation of their constitution, which forbade the attempt to cource a State, they have been hardened by crime, until they no longer attempt to veil their purpose to destroy the instintions and subvert the Government and independence of those States. We now know that the only reliable hope for eace is in the vigor of our resistan peace is in the vigor of our resistance, as the cessation of their hostillity is only to be expected from the pressure of their necessities. The patriotism of the people has proved equal to every sacrifice demanded by our country's need. We have been utiled as a people never were united under like circum stances before. God has blessed us with suc-cess disproportionate to our means, and, un-der His divine favor, our labors must at last be crowned with the reward due to men who have given all they possessed to the righteous lefense of their indicable rights, their nones, and their altars.

FAIR FOR THE POOR .- Noth withstanding the exceeding inclemency of the weather there was a large crowd at Masonic Temple, including a number of beautiful ladies, who braved the storm and turned out to assist in the noble cause for which the fair is given, the benefit of the suffering poor of our city. In getting up this fair the ladies have spared neither time nor expense to make it the finest ever given in our city, and in this they have not been disappointed. On entering the hall last night our attention was at once attracted to the fine Chrismas tree which is in the center of the hali, and which is most beautifully arranged. The fair continues during the week. Those who wish to spend a pleasant evening should not fail to attend.

By the advertisement of the Enrollment Board, to be found in our local notice column, it will be seen that they have determined to give Thursday and Friday nights to the examination of special cases, which are explained in the advertisement. On Sunday, from 10 o'clock A. M. to 2 P. M., the Board will examine the claims of persons from Henry county.

THE WEATHER -Yesterday was one of the most disagreeable days we have experienced for a long time. In the morning it was very cold, with hail and snow, but about uoon the weather moderated considerably, and a rain set in, which made the streets exceedingly wet and muddy. But few persons were on the streets, and items were very scarce.

Heimstreet's Inimitable Hair Restora-

It is not a dye, but restores gray hair to its original color, by supplying the capillary tubes with natural sustenance, impaired by age or disease. All instantaneous dyes are composed of lunar caustic, destroying the vitality and beauty of the hair, and afford of themselves no dressing. Helmstreet's limitable Coloring not only restores hair to its natural color by an easy process, but gives the halr a luxuriant beauty, promotes its growth, prevents its falling off, radicates dandruff, and imparts health and pleasantness to the head. It has stood the test of time, being the original Hair Coloring, and is constantly increasing in favor. Used by both gentiemen and ladies. It is sold by all respectable dealers, or can be procured by them of the commercial agents D. S. Barnes & Co., 202 Broadway, New York. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.

To Claimants for Exemption. HEADQUARTERS OF ENROLLING BOARD, Fifth Congressional District. Ky. LOUISVILLE, Dec. 16, 1863.

The Board of Enrollment feel perfectly conscious that they have not failed in any one thing in the performance of the important duties assigned them by the Government for notifying and examining claimants for exemption. They resorted to the best plans that are known to them for sending notices to claimants for exemption. In some instances citizens have failed to get these notices at the ST. LUOIS, Dec. 16. ST. LUIS, Dec. 16.

Special Democrat, Fort Smith 15th, 5ays, a gentleman named Taylor arrived here to-day, having left Benion, Texas, one hundred miles south of Red River, on the 1st, understood when he left the Federals had possession of the entire coast, including Sabine Bay, Galveston and Brownsville, and that a Federal force was ascending Red River; marching on Alexandria, where the rebel Ger. Taylor waited attack. Taylor waited attack.

Magnuter had ordered circulation through-out the State of a pledge devoting life, liberly, and the property of citizens to support the Confederacy, those refusing should be con-sidered enemies and trultors, and treated as such. One-fourth of all the negroes had been conscripted and premised their freedom. onscripted and promised their freedom.

The State is fairly crowded with slaves and tock, taken there by rebel owners from the States in ther east and north. The Confederate army in Texas were generally at posts on the ontskirts of the State. Kliby Smith commands the troops in Texas. Gen. Steele is at Dakinville, seven miles North of Red River, near the State line, with a small force. Rebel pickets are crossing at Little Rock and line the road. Price was twelve miles Sonth of Washington with three or four thousand men, the entire force of the enemy under Marmaduke, Shelby and Cabell are near him.

ARRIVALS.—Major Anderson, from Cluciouati; Wren, from Kentneky river; Tarascon, from Hen-Quantiell has been in Texas four weeks, his derson; Caroline, from Nashville; Silver Cloud, commped of four hundred men are distributed in derson and in detachment. It is not considered that the competition of the commendation ed in detachments in various connties in Northwestern Texas. One Hnndred and Twenty-first Ohio volunteer infaufantry, charged with disorderly and riotous conduct and drupkenness, and sentenced to be imprisoned for two months and forfeit his pay. In consequence of the disapproval, the prisoners have all been returned to dnty.

ARSON AND MURDER IN SCOTT COUNTY, KY A correspondent writing to the Cincinnati Esquirer under date of the 12th inst. gives the information that a most horrid murder was committed near White Snlphur Springs He made a statement that Capt. Brown, of Osceola, saw last summer in one of the prisons of the South, seven Kausas soldiers in irons, among other prisoners not in irons, and hunderstood they were to be put to death, as others had been.

The Secretary of War communicated these statements of the statement of the states of the states that an aged man by the name of Jeremiah Martin, who had been attending to stock on the farm of D. B. Pence and his son-in-law, living by himself for the and his son-in-law, living by himself for the past several months, was found, on the morning of the 8th, amld the smouldering Such also had been the course pursued by ruins of his house, burned to death. There was no development as to who committed the foul deed.

THE WEATHER .- Yesterday winter made his appearance in this latitude in his ngliest garb, and with the most inciement indifference to the inter ests of the man of business, the comfort of the oor, or the pleasure of the few who enjoy the uxury of elegant leisure. From an early hour in the morning, all day, and np to the honr of going o press, we have had sleet, snow and rain, com pelling the crowds on the street to seek shelter, and almost entirely suspending business. It may fairly be set down as the most unpleasant and disagrecable day of the season. At the city wharf things looked gloomy enough for a funeral, and the city generally wore the same appearance.

The river is on a stand, with five feet four inches iu the canal, and full three feet four inches on the falls in the Indiana chutc. Owing to the Inclemency of the weather vester day, and the consequent inability of shippers to send forward their freight, the Commercial laid over till to-day. Captain Add Storm, her cashier, is equal to the emergency, and will leave nothing natried that wiil contribute to the pleasure and comfort of his guests. The Commercial has splendid accommo dations, and is in every respect a first-class steamer. The steamer Kate Cassell has been parchased by Captain J. C. Jelly at Nashville. Terms private. The elegant Star Gray Eagle arrived from and all intermediate tows, cities and landling thi evening, at 5 o'clock, from Portland. The Star Gray Eagle la without a rival in the trade for eierance and speed. Captain Ballard, her commander contain Storm informs us that below Paducah the Commercial was caught in a storm, which made all hands apprehensive that the chimneys of the owners getting it out of the country, and no means of removing it except by the slow process of ox teams, it will probably soon become the property of the United States.

THE : ale of the Plantation Bitters is without precedent the history of the world. There is no secret in the matter. They are at once the most speedy strengthen-ing health-restorer ever discovered. It requires but a single trial to understand this. Their parity can always be relied upon. They are composed of the celebrated Calisapa Bark, Cascarilla Bark, Dandellon, Chamomile Plowers, Laveuder Flowers, Wintergreen, Anise, Clover buda, Orange-peel, Snake-root, Caraway, Corland: r Burdock.

S.-T.-1860-X. &C. They are especially recommended to clergymen, pub He speakers, and persons of literary habits and sedentary ife, who require free digestion, a relish for food, and clear mental faculties. Delicate females and weak persons are certain to find n these Bitters what they have so long looked for. They purify, strengthen and invigorate. They create a hea'thy appetite. They are an antide's to change of water and diet.

They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours. They strengthen the system and enliven the mind. They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers. They purify the breat's and acidity of the stomach. They cure Dyspepsia and Constipat

I PROPOSE TO SELL SIX HUNDRED.

III acres of the land upon which I now live.

III This farm is located timediately upon the turupite road leading from Lebanon to Springfield, as miles from the former and three from the latter place, and is only 40 minutes drive to Lebanon, connecting with he rathroad leading to Loui vilie and Nashville. There is now under rapid constructio: an additional rail road connecting Lebanon with Cincinnati and Knoxville. Ten essee, which it is said will be completed within one yes. In addition to these facilities there is a new work of turupike roads leading in every direction brough the country. This tand is eleasted in the midst of a fertile and well cuttivated constry, and there is no part of Kentucky better adapted for g ass, hems com, and tobacco. The farm is cetebrated for its abundance of stock water at all seasons of the year, there being a stream of water running through the center, which is well supplied with springs, so that at any time it is only necessary to open gates to allow any part of the farm to have water accommodations. There is an ample auply of timber for all burposes. The entire wood land about the acres in timothy for meadow. The whole of the grass lands have now upon them a fine crip for the coming winter.

There is nown the premises a two-story dwelling with 8 rooms and has two fronts, one fronting the pike, the other the farm. The out buildings are good negro cabing stables and sheds, toe bouse, poultry house, carriage and burger house, milk house &c., &c.

There are in the neighborhe of Churches of simost all denominations good country schools, with the unnear advantage of fear Fernale Institutions, and a Male College 78, Mary 29, all of well two on reputation, and are within from one to three hours' drive from the residence.

This tract of land can be purchased noon desirable entire.

This is the end of an affair which at one time seemed to be quite aerious.

By the steamer Beile Memphis, from Memphis on the 11th, and the City of Alton, from New Orleans on the 31, I have an extra New Orleans Times, of Saturday, Dec. 5, bringing important news as follows:

Another victory has been gained by the soldiers of the Department of the Gulf over the rebels in Texas.

mouths ago there were seven heavy guns and five field pieces in the port of Cavello.

Port Cavallo and the captured works are located on a point of the Peninsula which separates Matagorda Bay from the Gulf. The possession of this point clears the entrance to the Bay and gives the Union army the command of several important places, viz: Saluria, Port Lavaca and Matagorda.

A short distance back from the Bay are Victoria and several other towns, all of which are open to the occupation of our troops. open to the occupation of our troops.

A large quantity of outton had accumulated at Victoria at the time of the capture of Brownsville. As there is no chance of the owners getting it out of the country, and no means of removing it except by the slow process of ox-teams, it will probably soon become the property of the United States.

Great Chant for the People.

CIVE EAR OH YE PROPLE. AND LISTEN TO A what we have to say, oh ye citizens of Kentucky. The day cometh, even the great day called Christmay, when the lat things of the land are plenty, and the wise have a store thereof.

Make ready hen ye people and be wise, for if ye lack of the fat things of the land, four children will cry alond for plann cake and pudding.

Go not to thy neighbor to borrow, for why should be give the proceeds of his labor to fools.

Buy freely then, oh ye people, and lack not, for the day draweth nigh.

Make ready, make ready for the day oh ye people. Exchange freely your greenbacks for Wines, yea and for the products of France, even Raisins, Citron and Currante. May ye also Spices that are fresh, and Sauces from your mother Ingland.

For of what account is inrikey without dressing, or a roast without seasoning?

Then be prepared on ye people, and buy freely: yea, they lisms, sugar-cured be Stagg; also Buckwheat Flour, Cranberries and Crab Cider, for the day draweth nigh.

Yea, the poor earnejolee, for the day draweth nigh.

Yea, the poor earnejolee, for the day draweth nigh.

Yea, the poor earnejolee, for the without are situathered and Hominy and Beaus are plenty. The rich also will assist them.

Your help-meet smileth and your children reiolee, for have you not declared that your na'ss was open, and and all these trings and more too should be bonght of edd did.
